BISHOP GALLOWAY ON THE MOVEMENT
STIRRING METHODISM

"The History of the Nation Written Around the Cradle"—Advance of Civilization Where Religion Reigns

The coming of Bishop Galloway to Greensboro to speak on the Twentieth Century movement was heralded with promises that have been fully met.
The bishop came, and last night the great auditorium of West Market Street church was crowded with the intelligence of Greensboro to hear him.
Indeed, the people poured in until the huge door dividing the Sunday School room from the main auditorium was raised and a seating capacity given for two thousand people. The galleries on both sides were comfortably filled.

The services began by the singing of "Magnify Jehovah's Name," by the choir. A scripture lesson was read by Presiding Elder Rev. Dr. Frank H.
Wood. Dr. Rowe announced the literary theme: "Come Thou Almighty King," after the singing of which Rev. Dr. J.
R. Brooks led in prayer. A male quartet, "Glorious Things of Thee are Spoken," was sung by Dr. J. H.
Wheeler, C. P. Young, A. H. Alderman and R. M. Phillips. Dr. Wood then introduced Bishop Galloway, who held the rapid attention of the large congregation for more than an hour.

The telegram attempted to take notes, but fears that in listening to the eloquent discourses so closely he forgot to jot down some of the most important statements. However, a brief synopsis follows, which gives but a faint idea of the forceful logic and sublime eloquence of the speech. Occasionally the bishop made a humorous remark that was very happy.

The bishop's purpose was to discuss the most important matter in the mind of Methodists, now agitating the country. An educational revival is on throughout all Christian lands, not only in our country, but everywhere and in every clime. Everybody is becoming concerned about the education of the children of the world. At the beginning of the Sunday School work a hundred years ago representatives went up to London to see the start of the religious training of the youth. Two bronze figures in Boston come to mind; the first that of Daniel Webster, the expounder of the constitution. He deserves not only a place in bronze, but in the hearts of all the people. The second the figure of Horace Mann, the founder of the public school system in Massachusetts and in America. The latter is the humbler, but the greater of the two. "Give me the privilege of educating the children and I will write the history of the nation," declared the speaker with emphasis and eloquence.

No wonder the church is profoundly interested in this matter. "The Father of His Country" was concerned about it. Look at the matter from the standpoint of a patriot. As a citizen be concerned about the education of the children. The history of the nation is written around the cradle and its destiny is fixed there.

All civilization and all nations are differentiated by their religions. "I am glad," said the bishop, "to put emphasis upon this in the face of this age of gross and subtle materialism." A nation is strong and powerful according to the character and purity of its religion. Take England and India; why was little England stronger than the larger numbers of India? Why, with her two hundred and fifty millions of people, was India so weak before the small, but conquering forces of England? The difference is that behind Hinduism and Christianity.

It is a significant fact that the most powerful nations in the world are Christian nations. The ships that carry the commerce of the world are those which carry Christian flags. It is not population. What, in numbers, are our seventy million of people against the four hundred million in China? Yet, what is China compared to this Christian nation. It is not the country, China is a fertile country. A Chinese man with one-fourth of an acre of land and one-fourth interest in a Buffalo can support a family of ten children, and save money. No man in North Carolina can do that. Why the difference? In this young republic the president can write a message that will cause every throne in Europe to tremble. It is Christianity that has made us great.

(A railroad was torn up in China because of the sin of adopting something new. A story is told that Adam came back to earth and everything was so changed he did not recognize anything until he reached Portugal. There everything looked natural—there was nothing new. And poor old Spain!
What is the difference between that once proud and powerful country and the present? Where are her boasted possessions of parts of two hemispheres and many islands of the sea, and why is she stripped of her power and possessions, a dejected and pitiable spectacle? It is the difference between an open and a closed Bible. The ethics of the Great Book has made the civilization of America. Christianity has made the nation.

The bishop rose in a grand fight of eloquence when in thunder tones he repeated the man who said there was no place in the public councils of the nation for the Sunday School statesman. Dropping his voice to a moderate tone he said he was glad that man had been taken out of public life and that he would stay out. "He can report pri e fighis," said Dr.
Brooks, who sat behind the bishop.]

Victor Hugo said that he who opens the door of a school closes the door of a jail. That depends upon who opens the door, who runs the school, and what he teaches. A touching incident was here related of the boy who left Christian parents, though unlettered, and went to college to return with all the religious impressions of his boy hood gone, and who sat up when the family knelt down to prayers. "I love my boy," said the bishop, "but would rather have him ignorant of his moth- er's tongue than to go to such a school as that. It makes a difference what is taught. The true de- fense of our country is in the schools, homes and pulpits. It doesn't make much difference who is president so long as the children are taught right, and Christian mothers rule the homes and faithful ministers occupy the pulpits.

Christopher Columbus thanked God when he knelt on San Salvador. In that act the stillness and silence of the western hemisphere was broken by notes of praise to God that the winds and the waves had brought the discoverer in safety to land. On every corner of the globe we stamp our national faith: "God we worship."
Even if it isn't "worth but sixty cents."

He was willing to plant a tower on General Grant's grave for one act.
Before he died he stretched out his this, bony arms and prayed that the blue and the gray might never go to battle again.

The bishop is a director of the Mississippi College for young women, and of the State Normal and Industrial College here supported by state aid. He claims all the schools and would have Christian teachers in all of them because ours is a Christian country.

Who founded all the colleges which have risen to greatness. Christians—most of them by ministers. The churches established many of them which are not known as Christian colleges. The world owes much to Mr.
Wesley for what he wrote and spoke.
He knew a great deal. He knew something about everything except two-women and children. Mr. Wesley wrote about two hundred books. He traveled and studied abroad. His lack of knowledge of women and children may have been a blessing after all, for if it hadn't been so warm at home he might not have traveled so much.

In conclusion Bishop Galloway cited the enormous sums paid to carry on and endow secular and technical colleges and compared it with the shamefully small amounts given to Christian colleges. He then referred to the amounts attempted to be raised in the Twentieth Century movement, and told about what Southern Methodism is doing. At the close of the speech a collection was taken. The collection amounted to about $150. There has previously been raised in the congregation $1,500 for this object.

The audience was entertained, instructed and delighted at the mastery displayed by Bishop Galloway, and he will always be sure of many enthusiastic admirers in the Gate City.

Reminiscence.

There is nothing more delightful than to strike a gentleman of the old school in a reminiscent mood. Yesterday afternoon, while waiting for a meeting to be called to order, one of the company had the floor, and the treasures of memory flowed spontaneously. Something, we do not remember what, suggested the theme—ancestry.
He said he knew a lawyer once who was forever talking about his ancestors, and on one occasion when he had been discussing at length on his family topic, the best bred man in the crowd broke up the meeting by suggesting that he be seated in an ancestral chair, and that he would refer anybody who wanted to investigate his escutcheon to the criminal docket of Randolph county.

Then our reminiscent old friend fell into another story apropos to this:
Some of Robert Burns' titled friends and admirers insisted that he had been discussing at length on his family topic, the best bred man in the crowd broke up the meeting by suggesting that he be seated in an ancestral
chair, and that he would refer anybody
who wanted to investigate his escutcheon
to the criminal docket of Randolph county.

"His ancient but ignoble blood Had crept through scoundrels ever since the flood."

Joshua Simpkins' Tomorrow Night
"Joshua Simpkins," a pastoral play, said to be on the order of the "Old Homestead," and other like attractions, comes to the academy of music Wednesday evening, March 14.
In the third act a sensational new millionsaire is introduced, showing Uncle Josh Simpkins' saw mill in actual operation, cutting up real logs and stirring, using a real, mammoth buzz saw, which is seen revolving at a frightful speed. The play, however, does not depend on this one scene for success, as there are several other equally interesting scenes, and an abundance of good wholesome fun and many pleasant musical features, including their famous orchestra. The company carries two fine bands which will make a noon day parade. Admission, 35 and 50 cents.

Frankfort, March 13—The legislature will adjourn sine die some time before midnight. Apparently no apprehensions of further trouble for the present. The speaker then he would look it up and report, and at their next he would make his report.

M'KINLEY OFFERS TO MEDIATE

ACTS AT THE REQUEST OF KRUGER AND STEYN.

It is Very Likely His Conciliatory Offer
Will be Declined, Though Politely, As It Was Made.

London, March 13—At the request of Kruger and Steyn, the United States government has offered as mediator with a view of affecting peace in South Africa. Lord Salisbury has not yet replied, but it is learned that there is little doubt that he will decline the good offices tendered, though in terms as cordial as those in which they were offered.

Washington, March 13—At the cabinet meeting today the nature and extent of the proposals submitted by the Boer president, General Kruger, through the United States government will be made known. Government officers here believe that peace is now assured and that it will come through the mediatory action of the United States.

Smallpox Excitement in Charlotte.

Special to the Telegram.
Charlotte, March 13—Considerable excitement prevails here this morning over the discovery of a bad case of smallpox, near the city. A British soldier on the public square this morning at 9 o'clock by a policeman.
The negro is terribly broken out with the disease, his face and hands being covered with eruptions. He was wearing gloves evidently for the purpose of concealing the eruptions which covered his hands. The officer took the negro to a plunder room at the lock up, where he is now awaiting means to cover the eruptions on his face.

The Philadelphia baseball team arrives here tomorrow morning from the north for a two weeks stay here in their regular spring practice. The Philladelphians will come 24 strong and will be at the Central during their stay here. Mr. H. C. Crowhurst, assistant sporting editor of one of the Philadelphia papers, is already here, and will write up the practice games and training for his paper.

Over $13,000 worth of gold was received at the Charlotte mint yesterday by Assayer Clanton. The shipments came from Georgia and South Carolina.

Today is a great day with the Charlotte Pythians, it being the anniversary of Rathbone Lodge, and the celebration will take place in castle hall at 8 p. m. Among the 200 guests who are expected will be Grand Chancellor Woodward, of Wilmington, and other prominent Pythians. Mayor McCall, who was on the program, is ill and cannot be present.

The Park Movement.

To the Editor of the Telegram:
It has been suggested that some efforts be made to bring before the North Carolina representatives incongruous the matter of making the Battle Ground a national park. It is to be hoped that the Battle Ground Association will approve this plan. The association owns the battle ground and to the untiring efforts of Judge Schueck, the president, Major Morehead and others, is due the beauty and interest of the place as it is now. The care of the government would make it a permanent attraction, greatly enlarge its benefits by beautifying the place itself and building a mac daniel road from here to the battle ground.

If the government should take hold of this matter it would mean that Greensboro would get and justly, in the way of a park, what other cities pay thousands of dollars for, for what would the short distance from here to the battle ground amount to an macadam drive, bicycle track and electric car line? Citizen.

NO PEACE MEETING

Attempt Last Night Ends in Riot and Smashup.

London, March 13—An attempt was made last night at Scarborough to hold a peace meeting and caused a riot. The husband of Olive Schreiner was the principal speaker. The police were unable to control the crowd and the meeting was abandoned. The crowd then went to the various stores owned by the promoter of the meeting and smashed plate glass valued at $5,000.
The mayor read the riot act, but this had no effect, and at one o'clock this morning the military was called out to disperse the mob.

BUT THERE IS NO SEMLANCE OF CHANCE FOR CRAWFORD

Mr. Atwater Working to Get Raleigh
Seated as a Point of Observation
For the Eclipse in May.

Washington, D. C., March 13—The contested case of Wise vs. Young, involving the title to the seat of the Second Virginia district having been disposed of and the contestants seated, the North Carolina controversy will be the next to be considered.

The first of these cases which will be taken up will be that of Pearson against Crawford. In view of the record made by the house of representatives in overturning a majority of more than 6,000, in the Second Virginia district, there is but little reason to hope that the result of the contest involving the seat in the Ninth North Carolina district will be any different, as the majority on the face of the returns for Mr. Crawford was comparatively small. However, from the decision of the house in the Alabama, and Virginia contests, the question of majorities does not seem to cut much figure.

The close vote in the house yesterday in the Young case on the minority resolution, which came very near being adopted, declaring Young entitled to the seat, was due to the fact that several republican members absented themselves without being paired. For a time it looked as if Young might keep the seat.

Mr. Bellamy left the city Saturday for his home at Wilmington, North Carolina. Mr. Bellamy himself is confident that he will get the better of his opponent in the contested case, and that he will continue to represent his district in congress until the end of the session. Mr. Bellamy will return to Washington in a day or two.

Representative Kitchen, of North Carolina, who has been on a visit to his home, has returned to Washington and is registered at the Metropolitan hotel on Monday. Mr. Kitchen was present in the house yesterday.
He is very sanguine concerning the political outlook in North Carolina.

Senator Pritchard, of North Carolina, left Washington Saturday night for Lynn, Massachusetts, where he went for a visit to the home of Congressman Roberts, of Massachusetts.
The North Carolina senator will be away from Washington city for only a few days.

Attorney General Walker, of North Carolina, who is in the city for the purpose of arguing a case before the Supreme court has been quite sick at the Hotel Raleigh, but it was announced Monday morning that he is much better, and hoped to be able to appear in court, as had been previously arranged.

Congressman Atwater is working hard to have Raleigh selected as a point for the taking of observations of the eclipse of the sun, which is scheduled to take on May 28th next.
A delegation from Raleigh will be here in a week or so to aid Representative.

having come here on personal business. He will remain in Washington for several days.

BISHOP GALLOWAY'S ADDRESS.

The people of North Carolina have not in years listened to a more stirring series of addresses than those now being made in the State by Bishop Galloway, nor have they, in our opinion, ever been addressed on a more important subject. We do not believe that the people of the country have yet fully comprehended the stupendousness of the movement which he represents and of the kindred movements in the other Christian denominations of the world, and particularly of the United States. There is something so unselfish, so wholly noble and inspiring in these great benevolent movements for education, missions and other objects of philanthropy, that their wide reaching influence is hard to realize and impossible to estimate.

And one very significant fact is that Bishop Galloway, in the beginning of his addresses, plants himself squarely upon the ground of patriotism and makes his speech throughout from this standpoint. Our excellent report of the speech here last evening shows how logically he maintains this ground, and if argument were wanted to prove his position he abundantly furnished his citations from history. His reference to Daniel Webster's argument before the Supreme court of the United States in which was laid down the doctrine that this government was founded upon the laws of Christianity, was especially felicitous, and in the same connection Gladstone's remark that the American Constitution was the most wonderful and complete instrument that ever sprang complete from the uninspired brain of man, was quoted. He disclaimed throughout any imputation of speaking from the narrow confines of a churchman or the unreality of a theorist.

To further prove his position he referred to the work of John Wesley, and the estimate placed upon him by the historians W. H. E. Lecky and Green. These writers say that Wesley did more for the British empire than any other man of his time, leaving out of account whatever he did for the church.

In every way these movements are significant. They touch the very vitals of our social fabric, and their results are the essence of constructive statesmanship.

THE TOPEKA CAPITAL TODAY.

It is certainly safe to say that the Topeka Capital this pleasant morning was more largely sought for, and presented a more curious spectacle than any daily paper that has gone from a press in America in many a day. Its appearance is an interesting event, and will be the talk of the newspaper readers who are constantly seeking variety, and afford them as much relief as a new dish does an epicurean.

At eight o'clock yesterday morning the Rev. Chas. M. Sheldon walked down to the office and assumed charge, for the purpose of running the Capital one week as Jesus would. If he puts as much enterprise and sacrifice into the paper as the New York Journal would do under like circumstances, he would certainly print a signed article from Christ, with appropriate illustrations, commending the scheme. From the telegraphic forecasts of last night we are enabled to give our readers a picture of this morning's paper, the first under Mr. Sheldon's management.

Perhaps the most noticeable thing that catches the eye on this page is a prayer written by Bishop Vincent, and next an entire absence of any news of the day. Instead it has four leading articles on "Starving India," "Militarism," "whose only remedy is urged to be the religion of Christ," the Kansas prohibitory law, and a letter by Mr. Sheldon, appealing for a home for consumptives at Denver. Think of a morning paper without an item of news on the first page, where the latest and most important telegraph appears in flaming headlines!

The main purpose of the paper, says the leading editorial, is to influence its readers to seek first the Kingdom of God. The paper is a "news" paper, with the word news defined as anything in the way of current events that the public ought to know for its moral and spiritual development. It will be non-partisan, and with little partisan political news. All editorial and local matter is signed by the writers.

"There will be no Sunday paper, but a Saturday evening paper, suitable for Sunday reading. 'May God bless the use of this paper to the glory of His Kingdom on earth,'" says Mr. Sheldon in concluding his leader. One feature of the editorial page is that the names of the entire personnel, from editor to galley boy, appear. The local news commands a page, the leading features are reports of a "large" meeting, Mr. Sheldon instructed the reporter that in case of a murder or other crime to write a bare statement of the facts, dealing more with the cause leading up to the crime.

The sporting editor was allowed to work in a bowling contest, but the dramatic editor had to ignore the theatres. Space for telegraph is cut to one-third, and market reports one-fourth. All quotations on stocks, and bonds, giving options and other matter involving transactions in futures, have been consigned to the waste basket and only the actual cash prices of grain, produce, etc., quoted.

Advertisements are banished from the news and editorial pages and are banished in places reserved for them. The censorship here is more rigorous than in the news column, and patent medicine, corset advertisements and much other matter is barred. No retail advertisement from Kansas city or other out of town tradesman is accepted, Mr. Sheldon holding that this would be an injustice to some merchants.

We certainly feel like complimenting the faithful office devil for the acknowledgment given his services.

MARRIED LAST SATURDAY.

Then Took First Train For Greensboro Where They Will Reside.

The telegram stated yesterday that Dr. and Mrs. Edward Baum had arrived from Baltimore and would reside here. From the Sunday issue of the Baltimore American we clip the following account of their marriage:

With only a few friends and the immediate relatives of the contracting parties present, Miss Margaret Lardner and Dr. Edward Baum were married at nine o'clock Saturday morning. The ceremony took place at the residence of Rev. Curtis Lee Law, 924 North Carrollton avenue, and the couple were immediately driven to Union Station, where they took a train for the South.

The bride belongs to the well-known Pennsylvania family of Lardners. Her grandfather, the late Richard Penn Lardner, was a banker and financier of the Quaker City. She was groomed in a blue cloth tailor-made suit, with Spanish turban to match. An interesting ornament of the dainty headpiece was a solid-gold, acorn-shaped buckle that has been in her family for over one hundred years.

The groom is a native of Tennessee. He has resided in this city since graduating from the Baltimore Medical college, in 1895. He was appointed assistant resident physician of the Maryland General hospital, and served in that capacity for one year, and, later, assistant to the chair of surgery and demonstrator of surgery in the faculty of the Baltimore Medical college. Dr. Baum has resigned his position in the faculty of the Baltimore Medical college, and will settle permanently in Greensboro, N. C.

CLOSE AFTER THE SINNER.

Mr. Pearson Had a House Full of Them Sunday Night.

Correspondence of the Telegram.
High Point, March 12.—With last night Rev. Mr. Pearson commenced to talk to the sinners. "To men of Perdition" was his subject. The congregation with the exception of the choir, was made up altogether of men, it being agreed some days before that there would be two services held at different churches at the same hour so as to accommodate the people that would likely come out. So Mrs. Pearson talked to the women at the First Baptist church and Mr. Pearson to the men at the M. E. church. Both meetings were of good results. Mr. Pearson announced that there would be an after meeting during the next week last night fully one-half of the congregation, which was largely made up of sinners (the estimate based upon a proposition made by the preacher), remained for the after service, which shows that Mr. Pearson has already got a hold on the unconverted that in the past has taken weeks to accomplish and generally not at all.

The writer believes that the right man has struck High Point at the right time. Tonight the subject of Mr. Pearson's sermon will be "Regeneration."

Archibald Johnson, of Charity and Children, Thomasville, was here this morning.

J. M. Lassiter and W. S. S. Keen, of Asheboro, were here yesterday.

T. H. Pogran, Jr., of Wilmington, was a visitor here Sunday.

E. C. Lassiter and J. T. Moffit, of Asheboro, spent last night here en route home from a stay in Florida.

Marion Montgomery, who is now working in Greensboro, spent Saturday here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Norman, of Steeds, spent Sunday here with relatives.

Charles Kirkman came over from Winston last night.

Miss Jessie Henley, of Greensboro, spent yesterday here with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Tate and children left for their home in Charlotte last night. They carry with them the sympathy of our people their affliction, in the death of our little child.

The opinion in Raleigh is that there will be no opposition to the reelection of A. E. Holton as chairman of the republican executive committee.

Will Grubbs, a young white man, was murdered at Winston Saturday night by negroes. About ten o'clock Will Grubbs, Rufus Day, and J. E. Albrook came across the corner of Fourth and Chestnut street, when passing some negroes (eight or ten in number) one of whom ran against Will Grubbs. Grubbs said: "Mind you you are running against," some words ensued, when one of the negroes struck Grubbs with a rock across the right eye, crushing his skull. The negroes immediately left. Grubbs was carried by his two friends, Rufus Day and J. E. Albrook, to Watson & Brame's drug store, where he was attended by Dr. Bynum. He died at 1:30.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Oliva, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Aliken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pain in the back of his head. On visiting Electric Bitters, America's greatest blood and nerve remedy, all pain soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50c. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

During the early part of October, 1896, I contracted a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that consumption had appeared in an incipient state. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not. I became alarmed and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the result was immediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state.—B. RHEUMATISM—CATARRH—DIS-EASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the cause and root out and drives from the bones, joints, mucous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 B's.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Put Man Wanted in Connection.

"That was a fine report you had of the explosion," puffed the fat man, who did not know there was an elevator in the building and climbed three flights of stairs to the editor's office. "A fine report, I must say. And so far as the explosion goes, I don't know what you mean. 'Did you know that it was my furnace that blew up, that I stand the loss, that but for me you wouldn't have the item?' 'If you are D. J. Jones, we did.' 'I am D. Jacobus Jones. You didn't expect me to say that, did you? You think that my wife and hired girl were the whole thing the way you wrote it up.' 'The girl was terribly burned, and your wife was badly hurt while saving the girl. You don't appear to have had any hand in the matter.' 'Didn't they? Did you notice how slowly I sat down when I came in here? Did you hear me stifle a groan? I'm sure as a felon from the crown of my head to the sole of my foot. That's what I am. But there's not a word about that.' 'Were you in the explosion?' 'No. Wish I had been. When I heard the report, I knew some one must be hurt. I fell down from the floor on the way to the doctor. When I got home, I was so exhausted that I had to retire, and this morning I had to roll out of bed on a chair to get up. It wasn't my fault that the doctor was so late, or that an ambulance was at the house when I got back. You can say that I showed great presence of mind and got out and humped myself or stop my paper. Good day!'—Detroit Free Press.

They Pay the Rent.
"There is," says a traveler, "a stock saying which they have at Queens-town, Ireland. It is there the steamers pick up the mails, which can leave London 12 hours later than the boats do Liverpool and overtake them there. They, however, delay occur, and then the passengers kill time by going ashore, and the native is always in wait to sell them shillahs and other things, such as bog oak jewelry, carved and carved articles, and so on, which are supposed to be of great value and to be characteristic of Ireland."

"Some of the shillahs are wonderful and awful to look upon and have no possible place in real life, their only object being to take in the unwary transatlantic traveler. One I saw there had a head fully six inches in diameter, with projecting knobs and roots like a porcupine. It was so heavy that to lift it was an effort and to carry it any distance without using a dolly was a physical impossibility. It was a murderous looking weapon, and a blow from it would have done more for any living thing, even a dandy from Georgia."

"Why," I asked in my surprise, "what on earth do you use this for?" "That," he rejoined, "arrah, that's what we pay the rent with." "I've got it yet," New York Tribune.

Adhesive and Pasted Stamps.

"Wait until I have washed off the postage stamp on this envelope, spoiled in the addressing," said a man. "It is not necessary to do that, as is commonly supposed," said a lawyer. "You may take your scissors and cut out the stamp, and then, using the stamp and stick it fast to your new envelope with mucilage notwithstanding the adhering piece of the old envelope. 'It does not look nice and may be considered indecent by the mail, but if the stamp is a genuine, unused, adhesive stamp it is not questioned. The government when it sells an adhesive 2-cent stamp undertakes for such consideration to transport it to its destination the letter to which it is affixed. The fact that it has a piece of an envelope to which it was formerly attached, but not used or deposited for mailing, does not reflect upon the government to execute its part of the contract when the letter is deposited for mailing, the stamp being otherwise perfect.'"

"An impressed stamp, however, cut from an envelope is defective and invalid for postage purposes. It is as nothing how many of these are used, some people apparently being unable to be so ignorant to discriminate between adhesive and impressed stamps."—Washington Star.

A Rapid Observer.
Here is a story with a moral: A journeyman had just returned from a journey to Paris. One of his cronies asked him what opinion he had formed of the Parisians.

"Delightful people!" he replied, "but frivolous, changeable and altogether incapable of forming an attachment of any duration."

"How long were you there?" asked his friend.

"Three days,"—Chicago News.

Fear Evil Spirits.

Evil spirits are held in great dread by the Chinese, who believe them to bear special ill will to the eldest son of the family and to delight in playing upon the tricks upon him. To prevent this the eldest son in one family was named "Sixth Little Sister," the child's parents evidently being under the impression that evil spirits would be deceived as to the sex of the little one.

Among the Poultry.
"Good morning. How do you do this morning?" said the duck, meeting the hen.

"None of your business," replied the hen. "You are no doctor."

"Quack!" squawked the duck angrily.

"That's what I said," chuckled the hen.—Detroit Free Press.

SGROFULA AND ITS AWFUL HORRORS

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLES.
A MOST WONDERFUL CURE

A Grand Old Lady Gives Her Experience.

Mrs. Thanka Orilla Hurd lives in the beautiful village of Brighton, Livingston Co., Mich. This venerable and highly respected lady was born in the year 1812, the year of the great war, in Hebron, Washington Co., New York. She came to Michigan in 1840, the year of "Tippecanoe and Tyler too." All her faculties are excellently preserved, and possessing a very retentive memory, her mind is full of interesting reminiscences of her early life, of the early days of the State of Michigan and the interesting and remarkable people she has met, and the stirring events of which she was a witness. But nothing in her varied and manifold recollections are more marvelous and worthy of attention than are her experiences in the use of JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA. Mrs. Hurd inherited a tendency and predisposition to scrofula, that terribly destructive blood taint which has cursed the lives of thousands and marking thousands more as victims of the death angel. Transmitted from generation to generation, it is found in nearly every family in one form or another. It may make its appearance in a scrofulous running sore, in unsightly swellings in the neck or groin, or in eruptions of varied forms. Attacking the mucous membrane, it may be known as catarrh in the head, or developing in the lungs it may be, and often is, the prime cause of consumption.

Speaking of her case, Mrs. Hurd says: "I was troubled for many years with a bad skin disease. My arms and limbs would break out in a mass of sores, discharging yellow matter. My neck began to swell and became very unsightly in appearance. My body was covered with scrofulous eruptions. My eyes were also greatly inflamed and weakened, and they pained me very much. My blood was in a very bad condition and my head ached severely at frequent intervals, and I had no appetite. I had sores also in my ears. I was in a miserable condition. I had tried every remedy that had been recommended, and doctor after doctor had failed. One of the best physicians in the state told me I must die of scrofulous consumption, as internal abscesses were beginning to form. I at length was told of Dr. Johnston's Sarsaparilla, and I tried a bottle, more as an experiment than anything else, as I had no faith in it, and greatly to my agreeable surprise, I began to grow better. You can be sure I kept on taking it. I took a great many bottles. But I steadily improved until I became entirely well. All the sores healed up, all the bad symptoms disappeared. Of course an old lady of 88 years is not a young woman, but I have had remarkably good health since then, and I firmly believe that JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA is the greatest blood purifier and the best medicine in the wide world, both for the scrofula and as a spring medicine." This remarkably interesting old lady did not look to be the least bit older, and she repeated several times, "I believe my life was saved by JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA."

THE "ORPHAN'S FRIEND."

Not the Newspaper, But a Citizen of Greensboro.

Everybody knows the "Orphan's Friend," the newspaper by that name, published in Oxford. There is another friend of the orphans, Mr. San Brown, of this city. It will be remembered that he carried presents to the little boys and girls at Christmas, and that he has since gone to work on a larger scale, and that he has far more valuable presents to carry down to them at Easter—presents for the boys, dresses, etc., for the girls. He also remembers that children have appetites, and a number of Guilford farmers have promised Mr. Brown a lot of fresh eggs to give the children for Easter breakfast.

The latest good news from Mr. Brown's efforts in trying to bring happy moments into the lives of the fatherless and motherless is a letter from Mr. W. P. Monroe, of Wilmington, a fish dealer, to whom he wrote some days ago suggesting that he would like to see the children have as much fresh shad as they can eat. Mr. Monroe, in his letter, asks Mr. Brown to name the quantity it will take to feed them and assures him the fish will be there.

Mr. Brown says he will try to arrange for a special rate over the railroad in order to carry a delegation down to Oxford at Easter to see the children eat shad and eggs and receive their presents.

PAID RESTITUTION.

Young Man Pays for Candy He Stole Several Years Ago.

An incident occurred in this city yesterday afternoon which deserves mention among the most remarkable things of the closing days of the nineteenth century. No doubt there are opportunities for many such incidents; but how few of them ever come out as did this young man.

A fairly well-dressed young man who gave his name as Teague called at W. L. Wharton & Co.'s store (the old Houston stand) and asked if that was Mr. Houston's store. He had heard of Mrs. Houston's death. He was told that the store was that of W. L. Wharton & Co. He then wanted to know if Mrs. Houston was still living and where he could find her. He was directed to her residence by Mr. Wilson, a clerk to whom he was talking.

The young man seemed to hesitate a moment, then said: "I reckon you can attend to what I want done." Mr. Wilson assured him he would accommodate him in any way he could. He then said: "Here is twenty-five cents I want you to give Mrs. Houston for a box of candy I stole from this store several years ago when Mr. Houston was here and running the store. I have since professed religion and want to live a Christian. When I come to die I want to have a clear conscience and in order to do so I feel that I must settle up these little things."

Mr. Wilson took the money and agreed to give it to Mrs. Houston with the above explanation. All honor to that young man. No matter how many of "these little things" he has to settle up his heart is evidently in the right place and he is on the right track. Mr. Wilson did not think to ask him where he lives, and only learned that his name is Teague.

Is It an Ornament?

Does the hoisting machine stand at the corner of the Benbow House as an ornament? If so, why not put it at the front door of the hotel or in the balcony?

Passer-By.

New Ads Today.

Crowds and low prices are holding forth at Harry-Belk Bros. Co.

The old reliable furniture house of N. J. McDuffie.

Sweet and Irish potatoes—Hutton Hutton.

Yesterday a couple of ladies were walking along and came up with a young American three years old, playing in the water. One of the ladies admonished him that it would make him sick. He looked at her for a moment which he in collected himself, and dismissed the subject with "Go 'way, Miss. I done been vaccinated." He is the son of his father, who was one of the vaccinating doctors.

Wanted—A Furniture Factory.

The furniture factories at High Point make money. The one factory is making money. Why could not another furniture factory make money? If managed properly it would pay—others are properly managed; why should not another be properly managed? Greensboro needs these enterprises. Let men with money to invest think and act on these lines.

ANOTHER WAREHOUSE.

What Such A Move Would Be Worth to Greensboro.

The prospects of another tobacco warehouse in Greensboro are growing brighter. The united effort of men interested in this matter will bring about the desired results. The united and determined effort of a few good, thinking, persistent men will accomplish almost anything.

With another warehouse and the market well advertised by the increased efforts of the warehousemen now here, Greensboro ought to sell five million pounds of tobacco yearly, which would mean the distribution of four hundred thousand dollars or more yearly to the farmers and others employed, and ten per cent, or $50,000 of this amount at least would be spent among the merchants of Greensboro. This matter is worthy of the earnest thought and cooperation of the merchants and business men of the town.

Special Rates.

On account of the Pearson meeting at High Point, N. C., the Southern Railway Co. will sell special round trip tickets. On sale March 9th to 19th inclusive. Final limit March 19th. Continuous passage in each direction. Rate, 75c.

J. B. Graham, T. A.

Ladies clean your kid gloves with LaBelle glove cleaner. It is not a liquid, leaves no odor and can be used while the glove is on the hand. For sale only by Grissom & Fordham, druggists.

SCRAPS.

But Not The Ones That Make Bloody Noses.

The pile of Belgian block at the Benbow corner would look better in the ground.

Mr. Byrd T. Jennings, of Danville, Va., who is now visiting his son, C. W. Jennings, will make this his home in the future.

Mr. S. A. Kerr has a palm in his store that attracts much attention. It is artificial but has every appearance of being natural.

Mayor Taylor this morning issued a warrant for J. A. Byrd for carrying concealed weapons and shooting near the dispensary.

Prof. J. M. Bandy, the city engineer, is having Lewis street leveled preparatory to macadamizing. This will be a great improvement.

Several iron doors for the cell rooms of the new jail came in yesterday. They are from the Stewart Iron Works, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The roof of the building to be occupied by the Vanstoy Clothing Company is being put on today. They expect to occupy it before the tenth of next month.

Wm. L. Whitcombe, with C. B. Osgood, & Co., of Boston, spent the day in town enroute for Asheville, and ordered the Telegram sent to his Boston address one year.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Mr. W. F. Medaris to Miss Margaret Freeborn of Henderson, March 22, in the Presbyterian church at Henderson.

A small explosion occurred in Farley's drug store today. A bottle of hydrochloric acid, on a shelf in the rear of the store exploded, breaking a glass door and doing damage to the extent of $15.

There will be a practice on the Easter program at Outwary church tomorrow night after prayer meeting. All the teachers and scholars are requested to be present and take part.

The home of Rev. R. R. Moore was the scene of a quiet wedding Sunday afternoon. The contracting parties were Mr. Stewart Festress and Miss Emma Crutchfield, both of South Greensboro.

Drs. Turner and Elerson went today to Pomona to see Supt. Bergman of the convict camp who fell from the woodwork attached to the rock crusher. His leg was badly sprained though no serious injuries sustained.

A business man says that a number of small manufacturing enterprises will be started in Greensboro in the course of the year. Greensboro needs these small enterprises and lots of them—large ones also and lots of them.

Yesterday our venerable townsman, Mr. R. M. Sloan, lost a highly prized case, which he has been carrying for forty or fifty years. He values it very highly, and was overjoyed to find it today. He couldn't sleep good last night for thinking of his loss.

Policeman Alexander took Russell and Estes, the two negroes who were caught gambling yesterday, to Winston last night. The two prisoners moved at a lively step down at the depot. If a half chance had been given them they would have taken leg bail.

Among the preachers who were in the city last night to hear Bishop Galloway were Rev. Messrs. A. W. Flyler, of Asheville; J. P. Lanning, of Raleigh; J. B. Tabor, of Raleigh; J. F. England, of Raleigh; J. P. Smith, of Edenton Street church, Raleigh; R. M. Pickett, President of Davenport College; R. F. Bryant, of Pleasant Garden and Dr. John R. Brooks, of Raleigh.

CROWDS and LOW PRICES

Two things invariably attract attention—crowds and low prices. The first proposition always results from the last—and that is the reason for the great stream of humanity that seems to fill almost every store space daily. Men read the news; women read the latest fashions, especially the "bargain numbers." If it is bargainable they are looking for; look no further. Here they are:

Silks. Come and take a look. Latest in Hems, Laces and Pleases and Foulards, a sea of Soft Taffetes, &c.

Ribbons. Big job in Taffetes, all colors, at 12c this week. These are latest in ribbons.

Dress Goods. 42-in. black and blue Serge, worth 75c, to go at 50c.

50-in. all wool plaids at 40c. 36-in. S-a Island at 40c.

Worth 75c. 36-in. Madras, worth 12c, at 10c.

Beautiful line of novelties. New Spring goods coming in every day. 12c. quality at 8c.

We picked up a big drive in Lawns and Organdies from 2 to 3 yard less than you ever bought them. We are opening up new gains every day. Chance throws many a good thing in the way of those who wait and watch, and take advantage of it when it comes. This is your chance. Make the most of your opportunities and day you will live on "Easy Street."
